Prepare to embark on a captivating literary journey with Clarkesworld Magazine Issue 186, where imagination reigns supreme and the boundaries of reality blur. This extraordinary issue, guest edited by renowned author and editor Neil Clarke, brings together an exceptional collection of science fiction and fantasy tales that will ignite your curiosity, stir your emotions, and leave you spellbound.

Within these pages, you'll encounter thought-provoking stories that delve into the depths of human nature, explore the complexities of time and space, and illuminate the hidden wonders of the universe. From poignant explorations of love and loss to thrilling adventures filled with danger and intrigue, Issue 186 offers a diverse and compelling array of narratives that will resonate with readers of all backgrounds.

The issue opens with "The Astronaut" by Eugie Foster, a haunting and evocative tale that delves into the psychological toll of space exploration. This award-winning story, which won both the Nebula and Hugo Awards, paints a vivid portrait of loneliness and longing amidst the vastness of the cosmos.

In "The Butcher's Table" by Nghi Vo, a mesmerizing blend of science fiction and horror, we follow the story of a young woman who uncovers a dark and disturbing secret hidden within the walls of her family's home. This chilling tale explores the themes of identity, memory, and the horrors that can lurk in the shadows.

"The Shape of My Name is a Monster" by Kelly Robson explores the intricate relationship between language and power. Set in a future where words have become a dangerous weapon, this thought-provoking story delves into the complexities of communication and the consequences of silencing voices.

Prepare to be transported to a world of enchantment with "The Bone Orchard" by Sarah Gailey. This captivating fantasy tale follows the journey of a young woman who must confront her past and her destiny in a realm filled with magic and ancient secrets.

In "The Last Banquet of the Temporal Cooks" by C.L. Polk, a delightful and imaginative novella, we join a group of time-traveling chefs who navigate the complexities of history and the fragility of human connections. This heartwarming and humorous story celebrates the power of food and the enduring bonds between friends.

Issue 186 also features a fascinating interview with Neil Clarke, offering readers a glimpse into the mind of a master storyteller and editor. Clarke shares his thoughts on the art of writing, the importance of diversity in literature, and his vision for the future of science fiction and fantasy.
