Fallujah, Iraq was the deadliest city for US Marines during the Iraq War. In the bloody battles that raged there, Marines faced some of the most intense urban combat since the Battle of Stalingrad. Now, for the first time, the full story of the Marines' fight in Fallujah is told in The Firsthand Story of US Marines in Iraq's Deadliest City.

Based on interviews with dozens of Marines who fought in Fallujah, this book provides a gripping and unforgettable account of the war from the perspective of those who fought on the front lines. Marines describe the fierce fighting, the camaraderie they shared with their fellow Marines, and the losses they suffered. They also share their thoughts on the war and its aftermath.

The Firsthand Story of US Marines in Iraq's Deadliest City is a powerful and moving tribute to the Marines who fought in Fallujah. It is a must-read for anyone who wants to understand the true cost of war.
